

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

Discovering humanitarian action in a nutshell

Warsaw, 7 to 13 September 2015

The 21st Intensive Programme of the Network on Humanitarian Action (NOHA) will take place at the University of Warsaw from the 7-13 September 2015.

The Intensive Programme is the inter-university joint introductory module of the NOHA Master's Programme. It takes place annually in Warsaw, Poland at the beginning of the school semester for an audience of approximately 150 incoming students. This year, the IP is organised by the University of Warsaw and Aix-Marseille University on behalf of the NOHA Network. It comprises formal lectures, seminars, group discussions, presentations, case studies and evaluations. The IP brings together lecturers and researchers from the NOHA Faculty and NOHA Partner universities as well as consultants, international experts, policy makers, aid managers, and other guest speakers from NGOs and IGOs. It serves as a unique forum where a diverse group of participants share different perspectives, knowledge and experiences on current issues and efforts in the area of humanitarian action. Each year an underlying topic serves as a backbone for reflection throughout the programme, being connected to contemporary issues through which dimensions of humanitarian action and constituting disciplines can be approached. This year's topic has been set along the themes to be addressed during the World Humanitarian Summit, which will take place in Istanbul in 2016. Please refer to the attached programme.

As a contribution to the process and for the first time, NOHA opens its IP to 10 students who are not involved in the NOHA programme.

Application procedure

Interested candidates should send applications to the following email address: info@nohanet.org by the 25 August 2015 latest.

Applications should include:

- A letter of motivation stating your interest for participating in the IP
- A full CV

Requirements:

- All applicants should have an excellent knowledge of English
- Undergraduate or graduate degree in a related field

Cost:

The cost to participate in the IP is of 650 € per person, including meals (coffee breaks, lunches and dinners) and participation in all activities such as a security exercise. Please note that this does not include accommodation or travel to Warsaw.

Participants will need to find their own accommodation in Warsaw for the entire period.

Insurance: Please note that NOHA does not provide travel and medical insurance for external participants. It is therefore highly recommended to obtain a basic travel and medical insurance coverage before travelling.