1. Introduction

The module is a requirement for obtaining the NOHA Master's degree.

The overall objective of the module is to introduce the students to key legal instruments, principles and underlying concepts of International Law relating to humanitarian action and to enable them to apply this knowledge to practical cases.

2. Learning outcomes

In conformity with the learning outcomes set out by the NOHA network, students should achieve the following learning outcomes by the end of this module:

- A good understanding of the basic concepts of International Law.
- The ability to identify different aspects of International Law and their implications for humanitarian action.
- The ability to apply key legal instruments in practice.
- Principal skills in applying mechanisms of dispute settlement.
- The ability to present legal argumentation in the field of HA.
- A clear understanding of the limits in applicability of International Law.
- The capacity to introduce personal responsibility.

3. Course material

[Provide over here a bibliography of the books/reader used in the course with price estimates and (if necessary) advice where to buy it, as well as a listing of all other types of material that will be used in the module. Please specify explicitly which readings are obligatory and which should be considered suggested readings. Alternatively, you can keep the information general over here and specify the obligatory and suggested readings by page numbers in the programme schedule. If you put obligatory or suggested course material on NOHA Blackboard (e.g. videos), alert the students on this over here.]

Exam

6. Workload

The module will involve 30 hours of lectures in addition to a simulation exercise. Students are expected to also learn individually. As the module is relatively short and therefore quite intensive, attendance at each of the classes is highly recommended.

7. Assessment methods

50 % - Essay submitted before 31 December 2016

50 % - Written exam – the exam will consist of a number of open questions based on the various topics discussed during the course.

Please be aware that in order to be able to take a second chance exam if you need to, you should come to the first chance exam and attempt to answer the exam questions. In the event you are not able to attend the first chance exam you need to demonstrate a valid reason for non-attendance, such as a certificate from a medical doctor. No-show without a valid reason forfeits the possibility of taking the second chance exam and you will have to redo the course.

8. Assessment criteria

The exam will try to assess the passive knowledge of the contents of the course, and also the applicability of this knowledge in a practical situation. More specifically, the criteria of assessment entail the degree of knowledge of international law in general (including the concepts of sources of international law, subjects of international law, state responsibility and jurisdiction, the use of force under international law, human rights law, the rules about non-intervention under international law and those pertaining to international humanitarian law), as it is relevant to humanitarian action.
